"information processing" provides the alchemical method of solving for "why" where f(x)=y. This is the whole "system-theory" for resolving any matter in question x, to arrive at a knowledge and understanding of its "why" so that one may "C" it. Therefore this discipline and study of self development is called "dialectic information processing systemtheory";

017. Program; operation; application = the curriculum of this discipline is C:\. Using C:\ programming language you can overwrite and reprogram your cognitive behavioral mind software to change your mind so that you can make wise, good judgments and be at peace. ```
Protocol [grammar] (method; syntax) {
```

101. Human beings and civil societies operate on mind software using a blockchain consciousness record-distribution network;

102. The blockchain is called "decentralized autonomous organization" (DAO);

103. ns disis presents a human mind cognitive-behavioral program-writing language [i.e., Lilly's human biocomputer's "supraselfmetaprogrammer"];

104. C is the language in which a program is read and written;

105. Program consists of statements;

106. Statements control program execution;

107. Declaration statement declares the name and type of a variable or function;

108. Statements contain expressions(sequences of operators, function calls, variables, and constants that specify procedure);

109. functions(subroutines) classify declarations;

110. Terminate with semicolon and group within braces ({...});

111. Function body appears between opening and closing braces;

112. All keywords written in lowercase;

113. All drive(repository) names written in caps (C:\);

114. Comments enclosed in comment brackets (/.../);

115. Compiler reads and assembles program source code from C:\ and or more files;

116. Preprocessor commands("see") directs processor to read specified <C:#\file> and then return to location (such files may contain declarations needed to perform certain operations);

117. Objects have value(a particular pattern or integer stored in it);

118. A variable is an association between a name and an object;

119. Given Dr. John Lilly's human biocomputer, there is an underlying substrate of built-in survival-reproduction-instinct programs; out of these "several hundred thousand type" of programs comes an adaptable set of "thousand type" of metaprograms; likewise out of these 'thousand type" metaprograms as substrate comes the critical control programmer in the biocomputer -- the selfmetaprogrammer (Lilly = see, D.R. 20010200);

120. Lilly's well-organized biocomputer contains at least one critical control metaprogram labeled "I" for acting on other metaprograms and labeled "me" when acted upon by other metaprograms; if one has several controllers/selves/ selfmetaprogrammer competing for operational control in either time parallel or series in sequence, one path for selfdevelopment is to centralize control of one's biocomputer in one selfmetaprogrammer, making the others into conscious executives subordinate to the single administrator, the superconscient selfmetaprogrammer; this method of centralizing control is called the "elementary unification operation" (Lilly);

121. Hierarchically beyond and above the single administrative selfmetaprogrammer and staff there are other controls and controllers coined by Lilly "supraself metaprograms"; these are many or one depending on the state of consciousness of the selfmetaprogrammer; these may be personified "as if" entities; treated "as if" a network for information transfer; or realized "as if" self travelling through the universe to other lands and dimensions; if one does a further unification operation on these supraself metaprograms one may arrive at concept labeled "God," or the like (Lilly);

122. The above properties of the unification operation represent the human biocomputer's ability and power as a general purpose computer to render, test, and/or worship any model of the universe within their own selfmetaprogramming; the quality of one's model of the universe is measured by how well it matches the "real" universe (Lilly);

23

123. There are generally delineable major systems of metaprograms and programs competing for the available human biocomputer circuity [as classified below]; the steady state values of the fractions of the total computer each devoted to a separate program at a given instant add up to the total value of one ; the method of categorizing these competing programs depend on the observer's metaprograms (Lilly);

INVESTIGATION: PROCDR

Investigative Procedure Step 1: Initial Analysis.

(a) Directives: Determine whether a matter which has been raised to the IPS requires formal investigation or whether it can be examined and resolved based on the facts already known/presented/substantiated; determine whether the matter would be more properly handled by another competent jurisdiction; establish the role of the IPS (e.g., to find facts, analyze evidence discovered, and present findings to the decision-maker following completion of the investigation; be cognizant of the involved participants, decisions-makers, and appeals decision-makers (decision-makers should not be directly involved in the course of investigation so as to be — and appear to be — objective in taking any subsequent rule making).

INVESTIGATION: PROCDR

Investigative Procedure Step 2: Planning & Leading.

(a) Directives: determine the scope, complexity, and timeline of the investigation; develop a strategy for the investigative process; bear in mind that all subjects of investigation shall be considered innocent until proven otherwise, and that all subjects of investigation have the right to defend themselves again allegations or charges which may be brought against them; bear in mind that the investigate procedure may reveal trends or shortcomings in practice which can be addressed to prevent future occurrences of a similar nature, and that such investigations develop with time as new facts and/or issues arise.

INVESTIGATION: PROCDR

Investigative Procedure Step 2: Planning & Leading.

(b) An investigative plan shall take account of: the precipitating event (or charge) and all persons involved, including name, contact information, and relation to charges (including but not limited to the investigation subject); the chronology of dates, times, places, meetings, calls, conversation, and other material documentation; general laws, policies, procedures, and/or code of ethics which may bear upon the charges and their investigation, including where such information may be located (as well as other broad issues covered by the investigation); potential sources of evidence and material information (including but not limited to material witnesses); the decision-makers in the matter (i.e., those to whom IPS shall report findings); the order of persons to be interviewed and the subjects to be covered with each; communication planning with those having a need to know in re the matter under investigation;

INVESTIGATION: PROCDR

Investigative Procedure Step 2: Planning & Leading.

(c) Directive: produce and maintain a (confidential and secured) case file of the investigation, including ALL documentation and evidence arising from the investigation, including the original charge/allegation/complaint; including an investigation timetable which shall include the "tick-tock" (or timetable) of the case (which shall include the review of discovery, schedule of interviews, notes and transcripts of interviews, memos-to-file, and preparation of final report).

INVESTIGATION: PROCDR

Investigative Procedure Step 3: Discovery.

(a) Directive: conduct fact-finding through requests for information and conducting interviews (also known as fact-finding conferences, deposition upon written interrogatories or questions, or deposition upon oral examination). Stages of an interview include planning, arranging, opening, conducting, and closing. Bear in mind applicable document retention policies.

INVESTIGATION: PROCDR

Investigative Procedure Step 4: Analysis & Preponderance.

(a) Preparation of a final report of investigation shall rest upon a thorough analysis of the facts and preponderance of the evidence discovered in the course of the (instant) investigation, so as to cause the matter to be resolved between the parties, or to provide the decision-maker(s) with sufficient basis on which to decide the outcome of the case. "Preponderance" means due consideration of ALL facts in evidence, based upon critical analysis of objective and material information, and according great weight to genuine, credible and relevant material evidence.

INVESTIGATION: PROCDR

Investigative Procedure Step 4: Analysis & Preponderance.

(b) Directives: Reconcile and resolve to the greatest possible extent all contradiction between facts in evidence, considering which version of the facts is more consistent with the overall evidence than another; assess the quality of the evidence, bearing in mind it's objectivity v. subjectivity, firsthand knowledge vs. hearsay, and speculation vs. credibility; consider the source of evidence and the motives (explicit and implicit) of witnesses in testifying in the matter; in the course of resolving issues of credibility, consider whether the overall evidence is inconclusive with respect to the matter under investigation.

INVESTIGATION: PROCDR

Investigative Procedure Step 5: Reporting.

(a) This stage may be undertaken by an IPS-Dialectician with a Rapporteur subspecialty. Such IPS shall prepare a final report that outlines: all steps taken in the course of investigation (incl. schedule of discovery of documents and testimony); all facts found (incl. citation to material evidence as cited to case file or reproduced in appendices); objective analysis of the facts in evidence; any specialized or expert opinion or information solicited by or proffered to the investigation; citation to any similar case work known to the IPS, if any; a general analysis of the control factors relevant to the matter under investigation and/or to the course of the investigation itself.

INVESTIGATION: PROCDR

Investigative Procedure Step 6: Follow-Up/Resolution of Investigation

(a) Upon submission of the final report to the SPA, decisionmaker, or client, IPS shall be absolved by the client of all involvement in or responsibility to the matter of the completed investigation, and the client and all participants shall indemnify the IPS against any and all actions arising from the investigation; however, the IPS may be called as a witness to a subsequent action taken in the matter previously under investigation, and may testify upon the course of their investigation. Furthermore, those involved in the matter shall bear in mind the potential for retaliation caused by the particular facts of the investigation and strive (within a reasonable degree of their power) to reduce the possibility of retaliation and/or other collateral damages.

(b) Note Well: The conclusion of an IPS investigation does not preclude the parties from working toward another resolution or pursuing legal action in a venue of appropriate jurisdiction.

END INVESTIGATION
